Posttraumatic stress disorder:

Is a severe anxiety disorder that can develop after exposure to any event that results in psychological trauma. This event may involve the threat of death to oneself or to someone else, or to one's own or someone else's physical, sexual, or psychological integrity.

Five helmet cams from american and british soldiers in combat in Irak and Afghanistan were used along with audio tracks from soldiers explaining their Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. The enemy is never visible in the videos.

The last of the videos shows the American army attack July 12, 2012 on a group of 12 people in the district of al-Amin al-Thaniyah in Baghdad. In the attack two journalists for Reuters News agency and ten more persons including two children were killed.

Video

In July 1995 the troops of General Ratko Mladic seized 40 peacekeepers of the UN Dutchbat battalion present in Potocari, outside Srebrenica (Bosnia i Herzegovina). Resolution 819 of the Security Council had previously established Srebrenica as the first United Nations 'safe area' in history. Tens of thousands of Muslims took refuge in it. For three years, Bosnian Serb troops tried to gain control of the city without success, however in July 1995 they finally forced the UN Blue Beret peacekeepers out of the city. The UNPROFOR's decision to limit retaliation against the Serbs (in order to ensure the well-being of the captured peacekeepers and French hostages) left around 30,000 Muslims in Srebrenica in danger. Over three days, the troops of General Mladic separated refugee women and men living in the safe area, sending the women to the Muslim area on buses. The men were killed in what is now known as the Srebrenica massacre.

This event, as well as the shelling of Markale market in Sarajevo, were used to justify military intervention by NATO to "prevent the slaughter of Muslims in Bosnia."

Following the intervention and the subsequent end of the Bosnian War, the European Union, which was deaf to the demands of the Muslim community of Bosnia i Herzegovina during the war, again turned away from the area. Billions in reconstruction aid to Croatia came with the clear intention of recovering the Adriatic coast for German and Italian tourism. However, in the newly created state of Bosnia, there was no aid.

Until 2012, Bosnians could not enter the EU without a visa. To recognise the European status of Bosnian Muslims calls into question the concept of a white Christian Europe where the supposed European unit is based on.

Archive videos of the Slaughter of Trnovo, near the town of Srebrenica town were used. A flag of the European Union was burned in the old base of the Dutch battalion of UNPROFOR in Srebrenica.

During the meeting, the invited ones only read the list of 15.518 persons that were eliminated in the structure of migratory control of the European Union.

ROYAL DECREE 2393/2004

Installation

The installation was set in the basement of an abandoned factory that now works as an self-managed social center.

Before entering the visitor must sign a document affirming his status as an Spanish citizen, European Union citizen or foreigner within the territory.

Accompanied by a security guard is led passing by a dark room until getting to a table. The guard puts headphones to the visitor and a video is projected: the preamble to the Spanish Immigration Law and the causes why a person may be detained in a Immigrant Detention Center is heard. At the end of the video, color images show the arrival of the American army to the Buchenwald extermination camp and how the soldiers forced the population of the surrounding villages to see what was happening on the field.

Once the video finished, the person is accompanied to another door which is given a photocopy of the document signed upon entering. The reverse bears the face of a young man with the following information at the bottom: Abagui Mohamed, 22, died at the Immigrant Detention Center of Barcelona 13/05/2010.

EVICITION

Video

After the invitation for making a project in a house which also functions as an art space (homesession) we propose to make a project about evictions. People arrived to the event they were invited to, after that a man would open them the door of the house and gave the visitors a folder without any explanations, then closed the door without allowing access to guests.

The folder contained an eviction order written by a court from the city of Barcelona and a CD with the testimony of a woman explaining her experience with a bank since she signed a mortgage until she received the eviction order.
